Title: COMMUNICATING WITH COLOR, DESIGN, AND COMPOSITION IN QUILTS

Full Day Class

Description: Our quilts communicate with someone viewing them. They might describe a person, place or thing or invoke a particular mood or emotion. Above all, they tell about the artist and his or her view of the world at a particular point in time.

This class will enable you to find your own view of the world with the knowledgeable use of universal color theory. ANYONE can learn to use color as a natural means of expression.

In this class you will learn how I free myself with creative working methods that release the joy of working with color, line and shape in fabric. Applying these methods can help you make your quilts look “right” as a whole.

If time permits, there will be a discussion of machine quilting designs (could be a very important message of the quilt).

Class Limit: 30 students

Supplies: Pen and paper for notes. There will also be handouts.
Several sheets of ¼ inch graph paper.
See thru ruler and pencil.

Please bring an open mind... we are going to have FUN!!

Workshop Fee: $8 for color theory reference and handouts.
